OPENING

WHO ARE ALL THESE NEW PEOPLE?

Who's homeroom am I in?

Who's that?

Who's going to be on student council?

Who's in my classes?

Who is the new assistant principal?

Who's going to be on Homecoming court?

As the opening of the 2003-2004 school year approached, anyone who had been in or near the building during the summer wondered how in the world P.C.H.S. could ever reopen on August 26. Due to the installation of the heating/air conditioning system, every ceiling in the school was missing, and from the digging of wells and the auditorium construction again getting underway, the outside looked as bad as the inside.

Due to the dedication of the custodial staff, construction crews, and teachers, August 26 did launch the 2003-2004 school year for P.C.H.S. The halls were filled with the sound of friends talking about what they had done over the summer. For the fourth year in a row, the students came back listening to the old familiar sound of construction taking place just outside the school's thin walls.

The upperclassmen wandered around chattering about who the new teachers were, as the freshmen paced around nervously looking for a familiar face. The rigors were loosened a little on the students as the good news arrived that they were now out of the "seriously impaired school" status. Channel One news moved back to the beginning of first block with the exception of a few weeks due to problems, clubs and tutoring were still on Mondays and Thursdays.

The teachers and students settled in and got ready for what was going to be another unpredictable year.

We, the yearbook staff, invite you to enjoy the pages of this "unpredictable" yearbook.

Dr. Alberto, new assistant principal, watches a lively as the students arrive on the first day school.

Where's the cafeteria?

Where's my locker?

WHERE'S MY HOMEROOM?

Where's this class?

Where are my friends?

WHERE DO I GO?

The girls and go live life up first on the first day of school. The freshmen are happy that they now have choice, while this is just an everyday thing for the upperclassmen.

Mrs. Fred was just one of the many teachers very able for cleaning up after the construction crew.

Unforeseeable Future

When does the bus run?

When does the bell ring?

When is lunch?

When are clubs?

When can I get help with homework?

Septomore Heather Rhee and senior Jason Goddard put their things in their lockers hurriedly so that they can go catch up on summer sleep.

What's going on with all the noise?

What time do we leave?

What clubs can I join?

What teacher teaches this class?

What classes do I have to have?

What grade are you in?

Why aren't underclassmen allowed to drive?

Why can passengers only be siblings?

Why is construction STILL going on?

Why is the grab and go cycle the same every week?

Why haven't we had any assemblies?

Why don't we have faculty senate 1/2 days?

Senior Jonathan Taylor uses his free time to relax and watch others from the bleachers.

STUDENT LIFE

Who Would Have Thought?

The 2003-2004 school year at P.C.H.S. went by very quickly. The students made new friends among the student body, which was made up of approximately 400 students. They played sports, joined clubs, and made lots of new friends.

The class of 2004 were the most excited; this was their last year at P.C.H.S., and they wanted it to be the most memorable of them all.

The class of 2005 were also excited, being that they were juniors and they were down to one year to go. They couldn't wait for the year to end because they were ready for their turn to be the big, bad seniors.

The sophomore class members were not too excited because they knew that they still had a long time before it was their turn to graduate, but they still wanted their year to fly by.

The freshmen were scared to death! They were afraid of being picked on because they were at the bottom of the totempole; but they got along just fine and survived all of the trials and tribulations.

All around, the school year was most memorable for everyone. All students have lots of memories to look back on in years to come.

Hard members are anxious to see what the outcome of the football game will be.

The VICA team, consisting of Andrew Dorn, Mr. Beverage (Coach), Andrew Morton, Patrick Roudt, Mathew Callison, Nick Blackman, Timothy Wadon, and Andrew Mitchell, competed at the National competition held in Kansas City, Missouri, where they came home as the National Champions.

Seniors Erin Coleman, Tammy Wadon, and Rachel Wayne attended GHA and had the opportunity to attend clinics, meet new people, and live in a college environment.

Brooklyn Jordan, seniors Shawn Beard, and Rachel Wayne enjoy the FFA state convention held at Cedar Lake.

Summer school students took a field trip to Grimes Frontier Farmwood Supply to fulfill the career component of the summer school curriculum.

Summer Activities

For many P.C.H.S. students, summer was by no means a time to lie on the couch and relax. Many were instead busy with school-related trips and competitions.

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) team were the first to take to the road, as they traveled to Kansas City, Missouri, to compete in the VICA National Championship. Seven students participated, including Nick Blackburn, president, Tim Weldon, secretary, and team members Pat Brindt, Markus Callison, Andrew Morton, and Andrew Mitchell. Andrew Doss served as student coach and Mr. Gary Beverage as advisor and coach.

The team spent seven days testing their knowledge and skill in Parliamentary Procedures and VICA. In the preliminary contests, the team had to display their knowledge of Robert's Rules of Order when conducting a business meeting. The team had an impressive performance and advanced to the final, where another outstanding demonstration won them a National Championship!

The Varsity Lady Warrior sharp, traveling to many basketball camps during the summer, including the well-expected High North Carolina. The team faced Virginia, West Virginia, and North Carolina. Pocatontos finished with a 7-0 record and went on to win the camp championship over Class AAA James River H.S. of Virginia! Rachel Wayne also took a first in the three-point contest held during the week.

Four P.C.H.S. FFA members, Jonathan Wilkins, Sarah Beard, Felicia Pennington and Lynn Jordan, traveled to the State Convention held at Cedar Lakes on July 16-19, where Jonathan and Sarah received their State FFA Degrees. Lynn and Felicia went to represent P.C.H.S. as delegates.

Band members started working in the summer on their new and difficult field show. Seniors worked on refining their skills, while helping freshmen in their first marching band experience. All members attended camp.

Three students from P.C.H.S., Eric Coleman, Rachel Wayne, and Timmy Weldon, got the honor of participating in the Governor's Honor Academy. Selected on their success during high school, they were given the opportunity to spend three weeks at Marshall University with other outstanding students from around the state. While there, they lived in a college environment and took the classes of their choice. They also participated in many fun and cultural activities. Eric Coleman commented, "GHA was a wonderful experience. The classes, staff, and other students were great. I made a lot of good friends."

The doors of P.C.H.S. also stayed open during the summer as students had the opportunity for credit recovery or remediation during summer school.

The summer was full of many other adventures for students. It was definitely not a lazy summer vacation for many.

ie P.C.H.S. Varsity girls basketball team traveled to High Point University in North Carolina to compete in a 14-game tournament, where they took the Championship in the Single A Division.

Homecoming 2003

Warrior fans packed the stands on Friday, September 26, 2003, where they sat prepared for the announcement of the 2003 Homecoming King and Queen.

Throughout the first quarter, the Warriors scored four touchdowns with four extra points, going into the second quarter 30-0. Unfortunately, star running back Jesse Burdette was rushed to the hospital with a broken collarbone early in the game; but the Warriors showed no sign of losing concentration. The intensity didn't stop in the second quarter, when two more touchdowns were scored along with two extra points. By the end of the first half, the Warriors held a 44-14 lead.

Fans listened intently as the Homecoming Court and the P.C.H.S. Band marched onto the field. Anticipation grew as the escorts, attendants, and king and queen candidates were introduced. To a round of applause, Adam Matheny and Rachel

The Richwood Jamborees were able to score three touchdowns throughout the game but fell to the Warriors 54-22. After winning this game, P.C.H.S. had a record of three wins and two losses and were ranked 20th in the state.

After the remarkable game played by the Warriors, many of the students attended the Homecoming dance in the gym. The dance also attracted teachers and P.C.H.S. alumni, who congratulated the Warriors and were ecstatic about their third and certainly not last win of the season.

Mentorship

To help prepare seniors for the working world, they are required to participate in the mentorship program, which requires them to have 72 hours of documented work-based experience. At the end of their mentoring, all seniors have to present a senior project in front of three teachers of their choice and their mentors about their mentorship experience.

The seniors must have experience, the rest of the on their portfolio, college senior presentations.

A senior portfolio of their mentorships journal of their experiences, a summary of what their field of study is about, pictures of their worksite, and any other information they wish to include. Most seniors agreed that although this process was a lot of hard work, it was worthwhile, as they gained work experience and valuable lessons about the working world.

The mentorship program has many ups and downs, and it goes the way each student makes it. It can get quite stressful, especially at the end when the seniors have to put together their senior presentation and then present it in front of three selected teachers. After the presentation, the teachers ask the student any questions they have about the presentation, and the student is required to answer as many as he or she can.

Good luck to future seniors, and here's a little advice: just get it done, don't mess around with it too long or you'll regret it in the end.

During the 2003-2004 school year, P.C.H.S. housed at least 31 sets of siblings, ranging from pairs of brothers to pairs of sisters to pairs of brothers and sisters. A few seniors with their siblings were willing to get their pictures taken during their last year of high school. Just think about it: If you had an older sister going to school you feel? How would your relationship between you and your sibling be the same? Would you or your sibling let the other have a ride to school? While you're thinking about it, we'll tell you what these siblings said.

Rant 'n Rave

Students have to deal with both the good and bad at P.C.H.S.

Throughout the year, students had to face more inconveniences than before. Writing journals were introduced into all the classrooms with the idea being to improve writing skills. This year, the state introduced a new grading scale, forcing students to work even harder in classes. Construction continued to be an ongoing hassle for students and staff alike as they were forced to listen to drills and take alternative routes around the school. Due to the drilling of wells for the new geothermal system in the upper parking lot, student parking was moved to the football field lot.

How Predictable

This forced students to walk up the hill in the morning if they drove or rode with someone. The year before last, the school offered an hour-long lunch, but put an end to that when the state started requiring a set number of hours in each class per semester. This also prompted the removal of some club periods throughout the week, forcing students to stay in classes longer on the 6A schedule.

Many students also had their usual year-to-year complaints, such as cranky staff and the senior mentorship program.

P.C.H.S. may have its shares of hassles; however, many would agree that the good outweighs the bad. Most students, especially freshmen, enjoyed the change to block scheduling, consisting of only four blocks a day instead of the seven or eight. Clubs were also greatly appreciated, with a good variety so that all students could find an activity they enjoyed. Something is also to be said about the teachers, who go out of their way to help students in and out of school. Sports took a front seat, with many winning seasons and exciting accomplishments. The number one rave for many of the students at P.C.H.S. was their friends. School offers them an opportunity to see and visit with friends and provides students with many extra-curricular activities to share with their peers, creating many memories.

"Football this season has been really great. Our winning season has been a four-year journey ending with a unified team."

Snowshoe

Pocahontas County lays in the shadow of one of the finest ski resorts on the East Coast, Snowshoe Mountain Resort, and the students here have no problem taking advantage of it. This year was especially exciting for students as they enjoyed Snowshoe's 30th-year anniversary.

Snowshoe offers a wide variety of activities for students to do in their free time all year round. From golfing, swimming, and horseback riding in the summer to snowboarding, tubing and skiing in the winter, the resort offers a little something to everyone. Snowshoe also provides perks to Pocahontas

County students, giving them discounts on tickets and activities on weekends and snow days.

The Island In The Sky

Snowshoe also brings many events to Pocahontas County, which students enjoy and can participate in, such as the Chili Cookoff and NORBA (National Offroad Bike Association). Also, during the winter, students participate in snowboarding and skiing competitions ranging from the East to the West Coast. This year, senior Bobby Minghini traveled to Mammoth, California, to compete in the 2004 XGames, where he finished 6th overall after many grueling days of competing against many other professionals from all over the United States. He is also the National Boardercross champion, in which he competed to defend his title in New Mexico in March, where his little brother Jared Minghini also competed and placed in his division. Many other students take part in the annual races held at the terrain park in Silver Creek.

High school students not only find enjoyment in the leisure-time activities, but many find employment on the mountain. You can find students working anywhere from retail shops to coffee shops and restaurants. Senior Angela Fox, who works at the Silver Creek ticket center, commented, "Working at Snowshoe is a good experience. It gives you the opportunity to meet a lot of new and interesting people."

Most students agree that Snowshoe is worth being in the shadow of.

Hobbies

All P.C.H.S. students have very different lives outside of school. Most students have the luxury of leaving school as soon as 3:17 rolls around; however, there are many other students that devote their time to after-school sports practices, club meetings, and band practices. The rest head off to their part-time jobs.

The students who go to various activities to fill up their days often play video games, watch their favorite TV show. If it's possible that you could find him

Some popular hang-are Marlinton, Snowshoe, and dents like to skateboard at Middle School. The school parking lot provides them with an adequate place to practice their stunts and just have fun. Snowshoe is very popular with students at P.C.H.S., due to the fact that many students love to ski, snowboard, mountain bike, or skateboard. In Marlinton students go and hang out with their friends.

A few students play musical instruments as a hobby, even if they do not participate in band at school. Perhaps one of the most popular hobbies is hunting. Some even skip school just so they can enjoy the first few days of squirrel, bear, or deer season. Another popular hobby for Pocahontas County students is shopping, even though there are not any major shopping malls for miles.

No matter what a student does from the moment he or she gets out of school, one thing for certain is that you cannot predict what each and every student is going to be up to.

Assemblies

Assemblies at P.C.H.S. have always been a favorite to students. They enjoy having the opportunity to take a break from their daily routine and attend an assembly. Most of the assemblies are class or club sponsored. 2003-04 held a variety of assemblies, including class-against-class competitions like Powderpuff Football and Sadie Hawkins. The seniors won the Sadie Hawkins competition with the juniors trailing, the sophomores in third, and the inexperienced freshmen taking last place.

During the annual Elf Auction sponsored by Project Christmas, students had an opportunity to "purchase an elf." This year the club made a lot of money, which was used to buy presents for the needy during Christmas and other holidays.

The student body not only enjoys class competitions, but they get to go to pep rallies. Perhaps the most memorable rally was the one held to get the spirit up for Homecoming. Another pep rally the students participated in was when the girls' basketball team went to states.

In March, James Madison University brought "Cymbeline" to P.C.H.S., and on April 1 West Virginia University students became one of the first to present a play in the new auditorium. The program they presented was called "The Odyssey," and only selected students were permitted to attend.

As the year continued, students were able to attend a few more assemblies, such as the senior talent show, Theatre West Virginia's "Honey in the Rock," and Senior and Underclass Awards Days.

WVU students acted in the play "The Odyssey" at P.C.H.S. on April 1st.

After many weeks of anticipation and hard work, juniors and seniors dressed in their colorful dresses and handsome tuxedos arrived at Prom 2004, held at the new NRAO Science Center Building in Green Bank. This was the first time prom was held at the NRAO, and it turned out to be a big success. Students had hoped for a break in the weather since the past two proms were rainy and cold; nevertheless, the day turned cold and rainy. Once again, the After Prom lock-in party was held at the high school with the community club sponsoring. Students spent time having their pictures drawn by a caricature artist, eating, playing volleyball and basketball, and watching movies, along with winning money and other prizes.

The year of 2003-2004 was one of the most successful ever for P.C.H.S. Sports.

The football team started off the year with the first winning season in seven years, surprising anyone who had ever doubted them. They finished the season with an astounding 6-4 record.

The soccer teams ran into irregular weather conditions but finished strongly with winning seasons. The girls and boys defeated many teams that they had not overcome in years.

The volleyball team came out excited as they hoped that once again they would have a triumphant season. The girls made it to the regional tournament after defeating Greenbrier West in sectionals at exactly midnight.

The basketball teams hit it off with great seasons as the girls made it back to states for the third year in a row, finishing with an overall record of 18-

7. The boys played tougher teams in the sectional tournament this year and were unfortunately beaten. Nevertheless, the boys were still overwhelmed by their record of 14-9.

SPORTS

Taking It all!

The golf club headed out to the green this year to prepare for many victories, which would send them to the state tournament in Wheeling as regional champions.

The cheerleading squad hit the road twice this year, placing third and fifth in two different competitions. They successfully cheered on both basketball teams and the football team. They also gained more tumblers and stunts compared to the past years.

The baseball team struggled to be consistent throughout their season, as it seemed they could not find their stride.

Although they did not finish with a winning season, they had some impressive wins. The team greatly improved their skills and teamwork and look forward to a successful season next year.

The track team thrived off of their accomplishments this year as the men's team took numerous meet wins. Nathan Ritenhouse started out the season by breaking the 13-year two-mile record with a time of 9:56 at the Doddridge County Invitational, which was previously held by Cameron Barkley. The men's team took many titles, including PVC Champions and Class A Region 3 Champions. Alongside the many talented women runners, the team sent an astonishing 27 member to the 2004 season.

FOOTBALL

A Winning Season!!

It has been said that it takes three years to build a winning team—and that accurately tells the story since Mike Kinsley has taken over as the Warriors' head coach. After only two wins each of his first two seasons, in 2003 he led the Warriors to their first winning season in many years, ending with a record of 6-4.

The team was made up of twelve seniors, eight juniors, six sophomores, and three freshmen. A season highlight was accomplished when, after the second week, freshman Jesse Bardette was selected as the AP Player of the Week for the state of West Virginia. Unfortunately, Jesse soon suffered a collarbone injury and was sidelined for the rest of the season.

The young men came together to become one and played their best all season long. As the scoreboard shows, the Warriors had an "up and down" season, at one point being ranked fifth in the state and with playoff hopes very much alive. Although the playoff dream did not come to pass, the team definitely gave the many fans much to cheer about! They accomplished some very exciting wins and had a couple disappointing losses.

Next year's season is looking hopeful, with the upcoming 7th and 8th grade players along with the junior varsity team having some major wins this season.

Congratulations to the Warriors on their accomplishments!!

VOLLEYBALL

Expecting the Unexpected

Training began two weeks before school started, helping put the Lady Warriors volleyball team on their way to a tough, but triumphant season. Four seniors came out for the team: only one, Jerni Curry, had four years' experience. Following her was Erin Coleman who had three years under her belt, Ashley McNamee with two years, and Angela Fox with one year. Also joining them was former coach, Mrs. Jennifer Brown.

The season was indeed an exciting one. The Lady Warriors stepped out onto the floor for the first time with a tri-match against Greenbrier West and Meadow Bridge. The Warriors conquered Meadow Bridge but fell short to Greenbrier West, keeping their heads up as they played with intensity and concentration. Throughout the season, the Lady Warriors played over 35 games and came out with their share of both wins and losses. Brooke Dickinson was named to the Potomac Valley Conference All-Tournament Team, as a Lady Warrior first, and Mrs. Brown was named P.V.C. Co-Coach of the Year.

Pushing their hardships aside, the Lady Warriors united together to play their sectional games against Meadow Bridge and Greenbrier West. When the clock struck midnight, the Warriors were named Region Three Sectional Champions for the first time in the history of P.C.H.S. Brooke Dickinson, Erin Coleman, and Ashley McNamee were named All-Tournament. The Lady Warriors advanced to the regional competition held at Greenbrier West, where they faced Greater facilities for the chance to go to States. Unfortunately, the Warriors were unable to overcome Greater Beckley, losing by two points in the tie-breaking smatch. The ladies are to be commended for the first ever winning season for P.C.H.S. volleyball.

GIRLS SOCCER

A League of Their Own

The year 2003 was a year for the Lady Warrior soccer team to remember. The ladies seized many wins, hosting the first round of sectionals against Midland Trail. Unfortunately the game was lost two to one. The game went into double overtime then overkill, until a point was scored.

The ladies were under the leadership of Coach Chris Jensen and Assistant Coach Greg Mossesso. Fourteen girls made up the team, with five returning seniors, four juniors, two sophomores, and three freshmen.

The ladies began practicing at the end of August and attended a two-day soccer camp at Camp Marshfield. The camp was a bonding experience for the players and helped them improve their overall game.

During the beginning of the season, the team experimented with different setups and positions from what they previously worked with. This turned out to be very successful. The team had a very victorious year, and most importantly the players had fun.

BOYS SOCCER

A Den Of Heroes

Each new year sees the birth of fresh talents well stocked with nature's bounty, and P.C.H.S. Boys' Soccer received a fairly good share. The season began in a tremendously impressive manner. The guys made exceptionally good use of their summer training with Coach Mike Burns and his volunteer assistant, Rich Lacasse, and the first of their labor became apparent.

The season can be said to be one of the best in a long time. Incredible feats were attained, and the image of the team soared high on the table of ranking. Goals upon goals took form on the solid boots of the Warrior stars, and sometimes goalkeepers had to cry out for mercy. The most exciting game was against Greenbrier East on Senior Night. The spectators could not help but cheer and stand on their feet throughout the game. The atmosphere was impregnated with tension, and no fan could remain seated. "This is our night," said the guys, "No one will ruin it." And indeed it was a night that they will forever remember. For the first time in four years, they beat A.A. Greenbrier East, one of the best teams in the state.

Unfortunately, the Warriors could not beat Greenbrier East a second time to have a good taste of the seasonals. However, they had a great season and ranked 13th in the State, a big accomplishment for a single A school. Also, the guys were adjudged winners of the Coalfield Conference, 14 members were named to the All-Conference team, and two players, Bobby Mingham and Joe Moosio, were selected to the all-state team. Bravo, Boys Soccer Warriors!

TRACK

Running For Gold!

This year's track season left everything on the asphalt. The team had an outstanding season, with even more outstanding talent. They headed to Moonfield for their first meet, and it was evident to everyone that these athletes would go far.

Just weeks later, Nathan Ritzschman, broke the 13-year 1200m school record at the Rockledge County Invitational with a 4:56. With new fire, the team continued to take on after war. They earned numerous meet titles such as Polk County Valley Conference Champions and Class A Region 3 Champions.

Piedmont had the opportunity to host this year's PNC meet and did outstanding on their home track. The team placed first overall in many individual also received first, including Nathan Ritzschman in the 800m, 1200m, and 1600m, Jonathan Harris in the 200m garden, Joe Mazzucco in the high jump, along with the 4x100m, 4x200m, 4x400m, and 4x800m relays. The women placed third overall and received one individual first place, who was Christa Strathberry in the 400m.

The men's team also took a close sweep at the regional meet, earning first place overall and sending 17 members to the state meet. The women's team also performed well, taking second overall and sending 10 members to states, for a total of 27 athletes.

The state jump-pairs, braved 100-degree weather and its occasional thunderstorm at still performed very well. Nathan Ritzschman took second in the 1200m and third in the 1600m. Taking fourth place was the 4x100m team (Ben Jewell, Jonathan Harris, Andrew Wilson, Isaac Burdette), the 4x200m team (Ben Jewell, Jonathan Harris, Andrew Wilson, Joe Mazzucco), the 4x400m team (Ryan Wain, Ben Jewell, Andrew Wilson, Joe Mazzucco) and Joe Mazzucco in the high jump. Placing fifth was Josh Smith in the long jump. The men's team placed fifth overall. The women's team also performed well but unfortunately did not have anyone to place.

This year's talented athletes will be greatly missed; however, the team looks forward to us even more successful seasons next year.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Is the Third Time a Charm?

On November 1, the Lady Warriors came out more aggressive and intense than ever, determined to make a bid to the State Basketball Tournament. For the six seniors, Rachel Wagner, Irene G. Owens, Ashley McHale, Caroline McKinnon, Monique Brunson, and Angella Fox, this was their last shot. The Lady Warriors moved out rough as they faced Nicholas County for a second time, losing to their number-one team 41-35 (first the Warriors faced their first regular-season loss in Tucker County with a final score of 31-40). On December 16, the ladies traveled to Summers Co. for the Pre-New Year's. They finished third, barely losing to Persimmon at the first round, but outscoring Chip Co. in the second. Caroline McKinnon and Ashley McHale were named All-Tournament.

On January 2, the Lady Warriors faced Pendleton Co. for the first round of their Holiday Tournament. Unfortunately, the ladies lost by a 40-point margin (42-58) in overtime after a hard-fought half. The Warriors continued to finish last place by defeating Meadows Bridge 41-33. A senior McKinnon and Ashley McHale were named All-Tournament. Two weeks later, Brooke Dickinson was named Player of the Week after defeating Bath County. The Warriors, broke out of their shell in they played Pendleton for the second time away. Going to a halftime 8-point deficit didn't phase the Warriors, who came out like a ball of fire to win the game 37-44. The Warriors led a winning streak as they played Tygart Valley in three all-time rivalry away games. The ladies broke away during the first quarter and finished the game 54-49. The ladies kept the intensity to defeat Tucker County in their eighth straight win.

The Lady Warriors went into the second tournament with a 16-0 record against Meadows Bridge, who dominated Greenbrier West in the first round. The Warriors were pumped and ready to go by the start of the game, pulling up a lead of 12 points going into the half, but they allowed the Patriots to knock the lead to 4 points. The Warriors held on to win the title. The ladies then faced off against Fayetteville (37-16) for the regional tournament, after a week of preparation. The Warriors picked up a lead in the first and second quarters and held by three points (31-19) going into the half. The Lady Patriots did not give up and gave the Warriors a run for their money, tying the score 25-25 going into overtime. The Warriors didn't give up as Rachel Wagner cracked down a three-pointer in the last minute, getting the ladies into the lead to win the game 51-49.

The Warriors then stepped up to play the defending state champions, Williamson, in the first round of the state tournament, playing at 6:30 in the morning. The Lady Warriors put out a great effort, leading for most of the game; however, the ladies shot 12% in three of Williamson, who took the 42-40 win. The six seniors left the Civic Center with a disappointing loss, however were happy with their successful season. The teaming seniors look forward to following in the footsteps of the seniors last year.

SENIOR SPORTS

Leading Their Teams to Gold

Peachtree County High School was blessed to have all of this year's senior athletes. They led their teams to many successes, including having the best year in sports, overall. The football team started this year, as the 12 seniors led their team to a winning season. Led by four seniors, volleyball grabbed a win after win, including a sectional win. Both boys and girls soccer continued to put Peachtree County Sports on the map as they had numerous wins, adding two more winning seasons to the record.

Basketball season also turned up many talented senior athletes. With three seniors, the boys' basketball team accomplished a winning season, ending with a 13-9 record. The girls' team will graduate six seniors, known as the "super six." They topped off their successful season with a third consecutive States appearance. Three seniors dedicated all their time and energy to cheerleading as they traveled to all corners of the state to support and cheer on the numerous teams and to attend competitions. Baseball kept up the winning tradition, as the three seniors stepped up to lead the team. Track finished out the year with many triumphs, as numerous seniors took wins in various events. As these many talented senior athletes graduate, it is certain that their skill and experience will be greatly missed.

Leading their team through a successful season are seniors Joshua Smith, Evan Dale, and Derek Taylor.

Seniors Jan Collins, Rachel Boyce, Caroline McKinn, Asghar Ios, Brittany Banner, and Ashley McNabb ended the season with a third consecutive States appearance.

Seniors Jennifer Smith, Emily Smith, and Emily Smith are a great team.

PEOPLE Who's Here?

As the school year began, the upperclassmen tried to fill the void that was left by last year's seniors. The freshmen came in hoping to see a friendly face to welcome them to high school life.

The senior class stepped up to take their place at the top of the chain. The seniors hung out with those that they thought of as close friends because who knew what would happen after graduation.

The juniors planned, fundraised, and worried so that prom 2004 would be everything that everyone wanted it to be.

The sophomores relaxed a lot more because now they weren't on the bottom of the totem pole. They did a little bit of fundraising to get themselves ready for the prom that they would be in charge of next year as juniors.

The freshmen came in soaked of what they might find at P.C.H.S. They were one of the biggest classes that had come to P.C.H.S. in awhile.

The students buckled down and got ready for the 2003-2004 school year, which held the unknown, the

Seniors

Class of 2004

To predict that the class of 2004 would walk into Pocahontas County High School with only 76 seniors to walk across the stage would blow peoples' minds. They had entered P.C.H.S. 110 strong in 2000. The class of 2004 was the last class made up of the three middle schools in the county. Class members from Marlinton Middle School had gone through the problem of new principals every few months, never really having a sole leader figure in the school. The boys from Hillsboro Middle School were accompanied by two girls until their eighth grade year, when the girls transferred to Marlinton Middle School. Green Bank Middle School was continuously going to tournaments; and, unlike for the other schools, things went smoothly.

This year's seniors were flood with many different situations. The year started off with the class officers being elected. These pupils are responsible for planning graduation and the reunions to come. Elected president was Erin Coleman; vice president was Devin McCoy; the new secretary was Rachel Wayne, and Brittany Burner took on the role of treasurer. Next thing on the seniors' agenda was their senior pictures. Spirit week followed, bringing the 76 seniors to an outstanding win. Seniors were then flood with ordering their caps and gowns and invitations. "Senioritis" was soon to follow, as they added to the memories made over the past 13 years. The class of 2004 went through many changes. Nobody would have thought that the years for the class of 2004 would be so unpredictable.

The senior class officers for 2004-2004 were Rachel Wayne, vice president Devin McCoy, president Erin Coleman, and secretary Brittany Burner.

Juniors Class of 2005

The junior year can prove to be the hardest year a student faces. This is the year where they become upper-classmen and role models for the younger sophomores and freshmen.

Juniors begin to think about colleges they may want to attend and possible careers they may want to pursue. Many juniors attended College Night on October 21, to help them decide what they want to do.

The juniors are in charge of planning two of the major social events, Homecoming and the Junior - Senior Prom. For Homecoming, the junior class chose Whitney Curry and Billy Burdette to represent them in the ceremonies during the football game. Although they won both powderpuff and spirit stick competitions, the juniors ended spirit week ranking second, behind the seniors.

Throughout the year juniors were only required to take two courses, American History and English II. Many juniors chose to take other academic courses to prepare them for the college entrance exams, the ACT and SAT, and the ASVAB tests. These tests examined the knowledge they had obtained throughout the years.

As the year began to come to an end, the juniors became excited, knowing that their last year as Warriors was approaching. They knew that what they had experienced as juniors was only a taste of what was to come as seniors.

The 2003-04 junior class officers were Natha Ritenhouse, President; Jonathan Burns, Vice President; Jill Rose, Secretary; and Ben Jewe, Treasurer.

Sophomores

Class of 2006

Being freshmen last year made it a cinch to make it through the next three years. Or so the sophomores thought! Remembering all the teachers and their surroundings, they thought it would all be the same. But when they came back to P.C.H.S. on August 26, there were new faces to learn in the faculty and staff, and last year's seniors were now gone.

The sophomores' busy and confusing year started off with school pictures and spirit week. The sophomores and their parents met with the guidance counselor, homeroom teachers, and Mr. Sanders to discuss their 2-year plans. They were confronted early about their futures and how important their decisions are. They were determined to work harder and started to think about possible careers and classes they would need to take for their own individualities.

They were experiencing many different emotions, the biggest being the fact that in two years they would be adults and going their separate ways. After all that hard work, the sophomores were relieved to make it through the year and finished it with lots of new memories and one more year of high school under their wings.

The class officers for the 2003-2004 school year are President Clay Baxter, Vice President Kelli Hickson, Secretary Felix Pennington, and Treasurer Brandy Shar.

Freshmen

Class of 2007

Is the adage true that the beautiful flowers are not yet born? Well, August 26, 2003, saw an array of 127 flowers gorgeously glowing from spring's fresh air begin an uncertain adventure in high school. These freshmen had ventured to enter the clasp of the great Warriors, a transition that brings many trials and tribulations along with it (especially the dreaded demerit).

Almost as soon as the freshmen entered their new world, they were engulfed with activities. The first order of business for the freshmen was to take on the daunting task of navigating the halls to find their classes and lockers. They also had to adjust to new teachers, harder classwork, and block scheduling. For the first time, they faced the mystery of grab-and-go and try line and faced the ordeal of having to make a choice each morning.

Nomination of class officers was the next task of the freshmen. The brave ones among the New Warriors dared to stand on the battlefield and lead their comrades successfully into the land of the sophomores. Arny Coleman was elected president, Justin Dille vice president, Jessica Thompson, treasurer, and Brittany McManis secretary.

These four were entrusted with the herculean but noble task of servitude and making plans to feedbase for events later in high school.

Another big event the freshmen had was Homecoming. They joined the fun and activities of Spirit Week with extraordinary vigor, adding color to the already glamorous festivities. Each single day of Spirit Week saw rainbow shades pending the school; from formal, starched costumes through military camouflage and then to the school's bright maroon and gold. Unfortunately, the freshmen could not defy the wealth of experience gathered by their senior colleagues and placed "first from the bottom" in the impressive Spirit Week competition.

It is worth noting that the first few weeks were not all bread and butter for the freshmen. A seemingly impossible grade scale, an enormous pile of homework that had to be completed before the next day, demerits here and there for pardonable offenses, the lot...

Yet the freshmen survived and are now full-fledged Warriors, eagerly looking forward to their sophomore year.

Freshmen class officers are Vice President Justin Dille, President Arny Coleman, Treasurer Jessica Thompson, and Secretary Brittany McManis.

What Do You Like About P.C.H.S.?

"The students; it's truly a different place when they aren't around."

-Mrs. Martin

"I like the environment of the small school. I enjoy working in the media center because it allows me a lot of flexibility and the opportunity to work one-on-one with students."

-Ms. Chappell

"I ENJOY TEACHING AT P.C.H.S. BECAUSE THE PEOPLE THAT I HAVE WORKED WITH OVER THE YEARS HAVE ALWAYS SHOWN GREAT INTEREST AND RESPECT FOR STUDENTS. IT'S A REWARDING EXPERIENCE TO WATCH STUDENTS BECOME INDEPENDENT AND FUNCTIONAL."

-MR. SHEETS

"I LIKE WORKING THE MOST WITH STUDENTS."

Staff

Amidst the familiar faces of the staff of 2003-2004 a few new faces stuck out. Pocahontas County High School received two new staff members at the start of the year. Dr. Alberts was the school's new vice principal. Mr. Lindsey filled the social studies and physical education position.

P.C.H.S. is lucky to have a very involved staff. Most students do not realize how large of a difference staff members make out of class. Not only do teachers teach classes, but they also sponsor clubs, teams, and extracurricular activities. During club block, many teachers are responsible for a class of students who joined a club. Not only do teachers lead these clubs, but the clubs participate in outside-school activities such as competitions, trips and fund-raising. Some teachers coach sports teams, is not uncommon to see a teacher out on the field or court after school. Without the staff's involvement, many programs would not be available to students. This enthusiastic involvement from staff members really helps P.C.H. school spirit soar!

Juniors Krystal Sisler, Tonya Reed, and Kelly Blechl studiously discuss their classwork in their third-block, first-term, American History II class.

ACADEMICS

Pop Quiz

Academics for any high school including P.C.H.S. are very important. They are the entire reason we go to school every day. At P.C.H.S., seniors and juniors had the opportunity to load up on more electives than core classes since they had fewer required courses to take. Seniors were required to take English 12, while juniors had to take English 11, American History II, and an advanced Science class.

These students are allowed to take college - level courses such as College Trigonometry, Psychology, and Speech. Also, seniors are permitted to engage in College English 101 and 102 covered in one semester.

The sophomores and freshmen are the students who have the full academic loads. They each must take an English class, Science 9 or Science 10, American History I or World History, and Physical Education or Health.

Electives at P.C.H.S. include College Speech, College Psychology, and a variety of Vocational classes ranging from Welding to Print Design to Consumer Sciences.

What is your favorite thing about your English class?

"I like class discussions and being able to say what I think in English class"

— Whitney Carney

"I like reading the stories and comparing them to movies that have been made"

— Trista Norwick

Senior Sarah Brand, Jovanna Linney-Harris, Jessica Jewell, Courtney Taylor, and Whitney Carney joined to Mr. Shook's lecture in their all-year-long block, AP English class.

Is college English or College Speech any different than regular high school classes?

"Wait to take College Speech in college it will be less stressful"

— Norbena Olesinski

"Yes in College English we do more research projects and essays than we normally do but as long as you work hard you will do okay"

— Angela Foe

Seniors Anna Chance Wilkins, Casey Givert, Macey Vanderveer, Kristine Wilfong, Lynn Jordan, Naashia Hubbard, and Hassan Brock read their assignment given by Mrs. Beeche in their third block, second-term Language Arts 9-10 class.

Seniors Kaitie Gann, D.W. Haggard, and David Early work on a group assignment during fourth block first term in Mrs. Vanderveer's Language Arts 9-10 class.

Mathematics

The Brains Go Wild

Warmer brains did indeed go wild this school year. The math wing once again showed their genius and prowess as they stretched students to their very limits. As is revealed by law, each student is required to complete three courses in math to graduate. The basic math courses, offered by Mrs. Bohn, are Algebra I, Geometry Prep, Algebra I part one, Algebra I part two, and Algebra I. These classes serve as the foundation for the challenging but exciting world of mathematics.

Geometry, taught by Mrs. Brown, is next in line. It begins to get a bit abstract and employs students to use their extra-muscle nerves. Geometry deals with right angles, inductive reasoning, congruent triangles, parallel lines, points, lines, and planes. From Geometry, students can progress to Algebra II, where they apply the skills learned earlier on. Topics covered include radicals, rational exponents, polynomial operations, equations, and quadratic equations. Students seeking more challenging math classes can take College Trigonometry, which deals with right angles, circular functions, trigonometry equations, and graphics. Also, Pre-Calculus offers students the opportunity to prepare for college mathematics. Both these classes are taught by Mrs. McClure. However, this is not the end. The dying math whippersnappers on to take the ever-challenging A.P. Calculus, the mathematics of motion. Here, students get to use all their math skills in solving complex problems such as finding the instantaneous velocity and acceleration of a projectile in the air and thereby making accurate predictions as to when, where, and how the projectile should land. Their aim is to reach the stars.

Freshmen Aaron Papp and Aaron Bayler and Michael Callahan pay close attention to their lecture in Mrs. Bohn's Algebra I class.

Junior Josh Fred leaves no stone unturned in his quest for the right solutions.

Winners of the county math field day five freshmen were Ben Morgan, Kara Ford, and Kana Ford.

"Kojo" placed 15th in the Regional Math Field Day.

Steven Lewis Wilkup, Kwabena Jusuah (Kagel) and junior Ben Jewell listen intently as their A.P. Calculus teacher explains a concept via analogies.

Senior Ashley Long sits on Benjamin Jesse Delaney and sophomore Bryan Thompson, who seem to be having a good time in their Algebra I class.

Arner Tanya Reed consults with classmates to solve geometry problems during class.

Junior Brian Harrell is deep in thought as he considers one his pre-calculus problems. Looks like he's figured out what to do.

Mrs. Maclean explains to her students how the complex world of mathematics can be decoded. Not least their theories are based on a foundation of logic and have their applications fully discussed.

Sophomore Johnson HJ shows off the dog's eye her Science 10 class is dissecting so they can learn what makes the eye work.

Prochem Kelsey Beverage and Parolee Jordan Davis think lab report on weight and measurements for Mrs. White.

Science

Your Hypothesis Is...?

Writing lab reports, dissecting animals to see what makes them work, memorizing the different muscles and tissues types, and learning something new about chemicals are all parts of the science curriculum at Pocahontas County High School.

Many science classes are offered to the students so that they can meet West Virginia's standards of having three science credits before graduation. The classes offered in 2003-2004 were Integrated Science 9, Integrated Science 10, Chemistry, Technical Chemistry, Honors Chemistry, Physics, Environmental Earth Science, Advanced Biology, and Anatomy/Physiology.

Science isn't always about memorizing facts and procedures, there are also many hands-on activities that the students are involved in. Mrs. White's Anatomy students were busy dissecting cats while Mrs. Burns' chemistry classes were finishing their oxidation labs. Mrs. Sharpe's Earth Science class learned the different things that make up the environment around us.

PCJHS students are hoping to come back to find the new Science rooms built for the 2004-2005 school year, but who knows what will happen with that unpredictable process.

Ashley Whitney Curry weighs out sand in her specially made beaker so that she can determine cell size in Mrs. White's Anatomy class.

"Imagination is more important than knowledge."

--Albert Einstein

Freshman Samuel Hsueh II tops carefully as his partner, Denise Duffaugh, calculates their samples.

Senior Joseph Taylor gets some extra help from Mrs. Sharpe on Biochemical Earth Science.

Annie Fowler sets up her lab in Mrs. Barnes' Science 9 class.

Social Studies

What's Happening Now?

The students at Pocahontas County High School are required by the state of West Virginia to take at least three history classes during their four years of high school.

The students can choose which classes and teachers they want to take. The choices they have for the courses are American History I, World History, American History II, or they can take their history classes in a more advanced fashion and combine them with their English in an ESSII classroom setting. Their choices of teachers are Mrs. Vance, Mr. Landsey, Mrs. Martin, and Mr. Stewart.

Scarlett Mathew and friends are happy to receive help from Mr. Landsey on a very complex assignment.

Mr. Stewart uses his third block planning period to catch up on grading, lesson plans, and prepare for his next class.

Asians Courtesy Taylor and Ashley Landsey work quietly in Mrs. Vance's Sociology class.

Mr. Stewart is retiring after his 33 faithful years of teaching in Pocahontas County.

Junior Whitney Curry, Emily Blund, Ruby Burdette, and Casey Harriman sit with senior Christine Somers taking notes in Mr. Stewart's history class.

Kayleigh Teter sits proudly beside her favorite poem that she had other fellow students of "The Little House on the Prairie."

Mr. Walter is a dedicated teacher and a fine pianist. He is a member of the Elkins Forest Festival.

The jazz band performed at the Elkins Forest Festival. They were the first to perform at the festival.

Music and Band Never Predictable

The music department in 2003-04 faced enormous amounts of unpredictability due to weather. The marching band got off to a shaky start as they were forced to leave band camp early due to rainy weather. However, they soon bounced back and took their many competitors by storm. They hit the field for their first competition with their patriotic field show, "The Sound of Freedom," which included the songs "A Patriotic Overture," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," "Battle Hymn," and the percussion feature, "Punkin' Noodle."

Some highlights of the year included their 1st place in the marching division at the annual Forest Festival at Elkins and numerous 1st places including the drumline and flags at Woodrow Wilson Marching Band Competition. After finishing the marching season, they switched gears and began to prepare for the many concerts and competitions as a concert band. They performed all over the county, including at both Green Bank and Marlinton Middle Schools, where they brought enjoyment to the students. They also held their annual Christmas and spring concerts. The band provided ratings in May, where they performed two difficult numbers in front of judges and received three 1's, which are superior ratings. They were the only band to do so that day!

The jazz band had a smooth year with many talented members performing all around the county including Green Bank Elementary Middle School, Marlinton Middle School, the opera house and their annual spring concert at PC-HS. Another active group was the choir, who also performed at concerts. Other components of the music department included the Guitar class and Music Appreciation.

Art & Foreign Language

Exploring the New

Many exciting events took place in the Art and Foreign Language classes this year. Art, French, and Spanish always seem to fill up with avid students ready to learn new things, so it was no surprise when these classes filled fast! One major change involving the language classes was that the annual Foreign Language Festival was held in the spring instead of its usual time in the fall.

Mrs. Nelson badly taught a variety of classes throughout the morning. Students learned a wide selection of art techniques, such as modeling, ceramics, painting and charcoal drawings. During the year the art students displayed their work throughout the school. The library hosted displays of art from promising students. Other artwork was posted throughout the hall, cafeteria and classrooms.

Dr. McReel's French classes had a few changes this year. Her classes are typically taught in the morning, but this year French was held in the afternoon. Several French students (advised to travel to Quebec in June).

Mrs. Friel's Spanish classes were busy all year long. Mrs. Friel's first-term classes celebrated Mexican tradition by designing and constructing their own puppets.

Kelly Stuehl, Hillary Sparks, and Valerie Hall act out a skit for French class during the Foreign Language Festival.

Office & Library

Do You Need Help?

If a student ever needs any kind of assistance on subjects dealing with college information, book check-outs, or leaving school early, all he or she has to do is visit either the guidance counselor's office, the library, or the main office. Each place has its own unique style, from the room itself to the people who are running it.

If a student ever needs to check out a book, work on a computer, or just needs somewhere quiet to study, then he or she can go and see Ms. Chappell in the library. She'll welcome you with a warm smile and any extra help you need.

The best place to go to get college information, test packets, and any kind of advice or help is the guidance counselor's office. Mrs. Beveridge will help you with any problems you're having, and if you ever need someone to talk to about personal matters, then she's the one you want to see.

Last but not least, the office would be the place to go to get pink slips to leave early, check in if you're late, talk to the principal or vice principal, or anything else you need help with. Go to the office and see Mrs. Pritt; she'll answer or try to answer any questions you have.

No matter what problem a student has, the library, guidance counselor's office, and office staff are there to help.

Kelsoa Connor helps out tremendously as Mrs. Beveridge's student aide.

We welcomed newcomers Mrs. Pritt & Dr. Alberts to the office staff.

Dr. Alberto writes a note to return to class for a student during third block.

Mr. Sanders works diligently at his computer ensuring student information.

Mrs. Kasper and her helpers, Jada Nelson and Rashad Tybourn, work on shelving books.

Mrs. Verloren's third block class work on the school's laptop computers quietly in the library.

Freshman Pamela Jordan and senior Eric Sharpley finish up some last-minute questions in their 4th block health class before the bell rings.

Health and P.E.

How Fast Can You Go?

While walking through the halls at Piedmonts County High School, many destined sounds fill your head. Yet the sound that is the most familiar is the whistle blowing and a gym teacher yelling, whether it be Mr. Lindsey telling the students to run faster or Mr. Barb calling a time-out during a heated basketball game.

The gym always has something taking place in it, whether it be indoor soccer, basketball, hockey, or laps, and when the weather is nice, the teachers take the students outdoors to play football, walk around the track, play lacrosse and throw discs or shotput. The gym teachers make sure that you are only doing the physical activities that your body can endure. The students also take a Physical Fitness test.

Health and P.E. are both required classes in the state of West Virginia. Some people despise these classes, while there are others who adore them. The freshmen usually make up the P.E. classes, while the sophomores make up Mr. Knisely's Health classes.

Health is a subject that teaches students about the facts of life as well as little things such as how important it is to have good personal hygiene. He teaches students what drugs and alcohol can and will do to your body eventually. He tells them how important it is to practice safe sex, even though abstinence is the safest way to go.

Although not always the favorite classes of students, everyone generally agrees that both Physical Education and Health courses "do a body good."

Consumer Sciences/Driver Education

Expect the Unexpected!

To get ready for life after high school, many Pecositas County High School students take advantage of the classes that are offered to them in the Vocational Building in Mrs. Linda Markensen's and Mrs. Willy's rooms. These classes include Driver Education and Parenting, which are broken down into 9-week courses. While in these two classes, the students learn responsibilities that will come when they decide to have children, and they study all the situations that take place on the road.

Driver Education has requirements for a student to be able to take the class. The student must either be 16 or turn 16 within the semester that that student takes the course. Parenting gives all students the equal opportunity to "be a parent" for a night whenever they take the "baby" home and take on the responsibilities of its care, including getting up at 2 o'clock in the morning to "feed the baby."

Mrs. VanRosen teaches many roles, with a variety of classes being offered to the students at PCHS. Not only does she teach Parenting, but she also teaches Travel WW, which teaches the students about West Virginia and its history; Culinary I and II, which teach the basics of cooking, budgeting skills, customer relations and marketing; Human Development and Relationships, which teaches the students how to promote growth and development in relationships with friends and family.

Life is unpredictable, and we need all the help we can get for the decisions we will face during and after high school.

Junior Derek Housh received help from the construction supervisor on a welding project that he needs to finish.

Building Construction and Welding Incredible!

The building construction and welding classes were very busy during the 2003-2004 school year.

The building construction classes started the year with some book work. They had to complete a safety test before moving into the shop. They worked long and hard on the house that was in its final stages of being completed and ready to be sold. They worked in the shop making odd boxes and building small sheds. Some smaller projects were times like making mailboxes and building ramps.

The welding classes were also very busy learning the differences between the types of welds and the technicalities that come with using each piece of welding equipment. Students learn to use different welders such as the meg welder and the sick welder.

Building construction and welding are very popular among the students at Pocatontos County High school. Many love the hands-on experience they gain for their future.

Senior Deep McCarty runs up stairs around to find lost tools in his Welding class with Mr. Ivanc.

Senior Justin Warner works carefully on the greenhouse reconstruction in his third and fourth block Building Construction class.

These classes are helpful to the school, due to all of the work done around the building.

Senior Travis Waybright and junior David Maggiani and Adrian Irtiso admire the finished cupline in Blacking Construction.

Forestry/Vo-Ag

The Twenty and Volitional
Agriculture classes are two of the most admired elective areas offered at P.C.H.S. In these courses, students improve their skills in building, welding, and growing of various plants. In 2003-04, most classes were working on the construction of the greenhouse and personal projects of their own, including miniature hydroponic (growing nutrients in water) units.

Students enjoy the Vo-Ag classes because of their time spent outdoors. In some forestry classes, weather permitting, Mr. Burns takes fun and educational trips to the Bay and Seacroft camp to specify diverse tree types. In the past, Mr. Riley has taken instructional trips to his own farm to spend the day with his lands. This year, Mr.

Riley was very busy with the production on the greenhouse and getting a hydroponics unit set up.

An intricate, though interesting, part of the Vo-Ag classes is the SAMP, Supervised Agricultural Experience Program. Each student keeps a book on any agriculture-related field that he or she spends time and money on to earn that extra half credit at the end of the semester.

Mr. Riley and Mr. Barnes, advisers of FFA, teach a total of nine classes: Ag./Natural Resources I, Ag. Mechanics II, Horticulture, Hydroponics, Animal Science, all taught by Mr. Riley, and Forestry I, Introduction to Forestry, Forest Management, and Forestry II taught by Mr. Barnes.

Justices Ryan Wenz and Darrell Wright learn to run the classroom during their Forestry II class 2nd term, 3rd and 4th block.

Senior Angela Fox helps run through the fruit. The FFA sold over 325,000 worth of fruit before Christ-

Autumn Whitty, Gary and Brooke Dickinson and sophomore Crystal Wilford enthusiastically in Mr. Kelly Herches' 2nd period Science lesson. 2nd block, 2nd series.

Senior Shannon Saffler discusses his various plants in his 3rd block Horticulture class.

Seniors Evan Dale and Derek Taylor operate the tractor in 2nd series Forestry class.

Senior Tim Warden works on his CISCO programming skills weekly retreat. He seems to say, "Senior year is fun."

Sophomores Clay Baxter and Bob Moore put their skills to work in their Electricity class.

Sophomore Michael Collins, hard at work, knows it is time to get to work to brighten his day.

Electricity & Electronics Linking the Universe

Some are born with the ability to solve complex problems in the abstract world. Others are born to deal with practical problems in our everyday world. Electricity students, talented with both their hands and minds, fit perfectly into both these groups. No wonder then that these classes fill up so quickly.

Mr. Ziegler teaches the theory, and Mr. Beveridge teaches the electronics classes, connecting of Electronics and I, and CISCO I-IV. It's amazing how much students in these classes learn and the amount of technical work they do.

This year Electricity students won a position for Frost United Methodist Church. Evidently they did so impressive job because the church rewarded them with a Thank You note and $100. Also, they worked in conjunction with the Building Construction students to finish the Art room. Moreover they finished wiring the modular house and wired the greenhouse when it was built. Another thing the Electricity class planned to do was to wire a music processing building for the Agriculture class. Isn't this exciting? Mr. Ziegler feels sure.

But the excitement was not limited to Electricity alone. Electronics students had their own share of fun. Students in Electronics I learned about power supplies, audio amplifiers, and troubleshooting. Those in CISCO I-IV learned about internet configuration and computer programming. They worked on networking computers and learning how to link people through the amazing cyber space.

Then, if you have any basic electrical problems, just see these students. They can probably solve your problems.

Senior Joe Meseno cannot help thinking his Electricity class. He gets to apply the knowledge that has been four years in the making.

Freshmen Michael Dumbach and Robert McCarty work together on their project. Michael notes how he gets the right tool while Robert tries to figure out what has to be done.

Electricity students wired a pavilion for Frost United Methodist Church.

Senior Andrew Morton and Janner Kathryn assist in the work that makes the VHS-D network.

Seniors Jessica Garab and Nicole Bane contemplate what to do on their third assignment in Print Design during first term.

Business & Journalism

Surprising All

Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Blum, and Mrs. Martin are the three teachers who run the P.C. H.S. Business and Journalism classes. Mrs. Stewart teaches all of the Business classes, while Mrs. Blum teaches the Yearbook class and Mrs. Martin teaches Print Design, which is responsible for the monthly newsletters all students and their families receive at home. They also do small private print jobs occasionally but mainly focus on principals and webpages for the school. The yearbook class works hard all year long gathering information and pictures to put into a book all students can relate to. Yearbook class also takes time out of their weekends and after-school hours to go around the many businesses in the community to sell ads. These ads help pay for most of the book and all of the extra staff the class gets to put in.

KeyBoarding is the most popular out of all of the Business classes. This class is the gateway into other Business classes. In KeyBoarding, students learn typing skills and the basics of Office programs created by Microsoft. The students learn how to set up acceptable business documents such as letters, memos, and faxes and how to type reports.

The other computer classes taught by Mrs. Stewart are Computer Applications and Advanced Computer Applications. In these classes, students go beyond what they learned in KeyBoarding, using another set of programs created by Corel. The students also further their expertise in Excel, Word, and PowerPoint. Students who enroll in Advanced Computer Applications have the opportunity to earn college credit from Greenbush Community College.

Along with teaching the many wonders of computer programs, Mrs. Stewart also offers Intro to Business, Accounting I and Accounting II. These classes teach record keeping for businesses.

Senior Kristina Hanna uses a variety of publishing program (first-level, second-year) Advanced Business Computer Applications class with Mrs. Stewart.

Yearbook Staff has 11 members + Mrs. Stewart will retire after this year. + Print Design creates the monthly newsletter.

"My favorite thing about Companion Applications is getting the opportunity to learn all the difficult applications that you can use on the computer."
- Ashley Banks

"My best experience with my yearbook has been getting to see what the yearbook is like behind the scenes."
- Kelly Smith

"My favorite thing about Accounting is getting to learn about business and what it's like to be an accountant."
- John Fiddis

Graduation was held on May 23, 2004, at 4 p.m. in the Pocahontas County High School gymnasium, with 69 students graduating. The class of 2004 was blue as other; this was the first class to ever graduate from Pocahontas County High School as early as May 23rd.

The ceremony began with the class of 2004 Valedictorian was Jonathan Wilkins.

walking in as a whole, ladies by gentlemen, to show the effect of the maroon gowns on the gentlemen and the gold gowns on the ladies. This was the first time in a few years that the students voted on the maroon and gold gowns.

After everyone was seated, Robin Nelson presented the welcome and Sarah Beard gave the invocation. Jonathan Wilkins followed with the student address, telling students of his appreciation in being a part of the class of 2004.

Four of the students reflected back on the past four years. Angela Fox told the audience all about freshman year for the students and their fears when they arrived at PCHS. Erin Coleman shared the excitement that took place sophomore year. Rachel Wayne told of the events and pleasures that came along as juniors in high school; and Lenna Walkup wrapped everything up with things that had taken place throughout their senior year.

Amanda Wanless and Amanda Wiley entertained the crowd with a very touching rendition of the song "Think of Me." Caroline McKean presented the class to Principal Tom Sanders. Superintendent Law read the names as the senior sponsors presented diplomas. The class of 2004 threw their caps into the air and began their lives as true adults in this unpredictable world.

Honor graduates for 2004: Robin Nelson, Lenna Walkup, Rachel Wayne, Rebekah Connor, Tim Weadon, Erin Coleman, Caroline McKean, Angela Fox, Sarah Beard, Marietta Cheema, Hollis Barker and Jonathan Wilkins.

Senior Anna Barnitsky shyly gets her award for being the top business student from Mrs. Stewart. The award is in honor of Mr. Anne Lee Dean, a former business teacher at P.C.H.S.

Senior Bobby Mingham stares incredulously at the certificate Mr. Gibson just gave him. He can't believe he's made it through high school - and with an award too.

BANQUETS & AWARDS

The Feast of Nobles...

Completing middle school and heading for high school is an exciting experience, but it cannot compare with the excitement of successfully completing high school and heading out into the "real" world. The thrill peaks towards a zenith when one does not only earn a high school diploma but several awards as well. It's a big boost to the individual, an honor to his friends and family and a lifetime goal come true.

It is the realization of a lifelong dream; a dream that embodies struggle and survival, sour and sweet moments and an unwavering soul that always triumphs. That is why these students had such broad smiles on their faces as they attended the various banquets. They had not only been part of the school but had played an integral role in the school's success. They believed, achieved and succeeded, and that is why we offer our biggest salute. Way to go!!

Seniors Doug McCarty and Erin Coleman brighten the room with their broad smiles during the athletic banquet. They were the recipients of the Arch Woodéel Sportsmanship Award.

Senior Evan Dale joyfully races to receive his award. His classmate, Sarah Beard, cheers him on with great enthusiasm.

Seniors Caroline McKee, Jonathan Wilkins, Lenna Walker, Rachel Wayne, Kelen Nelson, Brittany Barber and Kwadwo Jumah (Koji) stood proudly before their parents and other invited guests at the achievement banquet.

Clad in his well-tailored suit and famous dimple, junior Brandon Shinsberry and his mom, Mrs. Kim Shinsberry, enjoy their meal at the achievement banquet.

Seniors Tim Wendon and Rachel Wilcox, who manage to do complex calculations while playing sports, receive the June Hake Math/Athletic Award.

The teachers weren't left out of the awards. Mrs. Wilky looks up gratefully at Mr. Sheen after receiving her award of recognition for four years of selflessly dedicated service as co-athletic director.

These students represented P.C.H.S. at the state social studies fair and did a great job: sophomores Halie Herold, Tiffany Hudson, Renee Burke, freshmen Jessica Thompson, sophomore Joey Gooding, and freshmen Christin Shinsberry, Cole Baverage and Freddie Tawney.

Clubs in Action

Pocahontas County High School's clubs were very busy in 2003-2004, as they all fought to make an impact on student life.

Teen Institute hosted many activities throughout the year including a Valentine's Day carnival and candy sale. The items sold were delivered by "Cupid." They held "Sandy Sowell's Game Show Mania," which was the biggest assembly of the year. The club planned to put their profits toward a freshman camp.

FFA had another successful year also. They hosted the Tractor Driving Contest. Many members competed against students from surrounding schools. They had their annual Fruit Sale, selling over $25,000 worth of fruit. This money was used to fund a trip to the Eastern Outdoor and Sportsman Show in Pennsylvania.

On March 26 and 27, FBLA traveled to Charleston to attend the State Leadership Conference. Many students placed in the top 10 in the state: Angela Fae, 9th place Computer Applications; Jessica Gilardi and Sarah Beard, 6th place Desktop Publishing; Erin Coleman, 7th place Business Communications; Sam Parker, 3rd place Business Communications; Kari Carpenter, 7th place FBLA Principles and Procedures; and Brandy Sharp, 9th place Introduction to Business.

The VICA team's hard work paid off as they did well at the State VICA competition. Jonathan Wilkins took a 1st place in Residential Wiring, Kayala Jordan placed 3rd in Prepared Speech, and Tim Weadon led his team to a 1st place in Chapter Business Procedures. They will once again travel to Kansas City, Missouri, for the National Competition.

Members of Warner News worked hard to revive the club, which suffered last year due to the reduction of club days. The small group of members worked hard to produce weekly broadcasts, while practicing journalism skills.

These are just a few of the numerous clubs that took a stand this year to improve the environment at the high school and make it a lively and active place.

French Club member Brittany McMann sells a candy bar to Grant Dale during the volleyball game. The French Club raised money for their trip to Quebec.

Teen Institute held Cupid's Corner, a Valentine's Day delivery service for flowers and candy. Co-Secretaries made a delightful Cupid.

Back to the End

Closing

Another year came to a close as summer approached. As every year goes by, there are those & unpredictable moments that make each year unique. 2003-2004 followed in the footsteps of those that had passed. Students were faced with many changes that they eventually became accustomed to.

The new vice principal, Dr. Alberts, was a change from Mr. Brock, who had been the vice principal as long as any of the students had attended P.C.H.S. Students finally had the opportunity to enjoy the auditorium that had been promised earlier. The seniors surprisingly had the opportunity to hold a meeting in the auditorium even before all of the seats were put in.

Second term the new student representative for the Board of Education was chosen. The students P.C.H.S. listened to each of the candidates' speeches and decided that Erin Wooddell was their best bet. She took senior Erin Coleman's place.

Perhaps the most unpredictable event out of the entire year was that all P.C.H.S. sports teams improved. The football team and volleyball improved tremendously. After many years of losing seasons, the seniors kept the teams united, and freshmen stepped up to effectively fill vacancies. The winning seasons continued into the win with the girls basketball team accomplishing their third chance at states. The six seniors who carried the team were nicknamed the "super six."

Prom was held in an untraditional place, the NRAO's new science center building. For the most part, the students, faculty, and their dates had a very enjoyable time.

Students feared they would have to take an end-of-course exam for each class regardless of the exemption policy. After months of deliberation, the state decided that the vocational classes would only be tested this year.

Graduation came early to seniors, as they received their diplomas on May 23, the earliest ever at P.C.H.S. As for the rest of the students and faculty, they made the most of the 2003-2004 school year until June 8.

During intramurals, two teams shared the glory of the volleyball championship. Team members were Erin Coleman, Ashley McKeith, Jenn Curry, Angela Fox, and Whitney Curry on one team. The other team consisted of Brian Norred, Andy Wayne, Jonathan Burns, Joe Mosses, Corey Simmons, and Ryan Ware.

Senior Erin Coleman gives junior Erin Wooddell some tips that helped make her experience as a student representative to the Board of Education more effective.

Unpredictable!!

Editors' Corner:

"When everything was thrown at us at the beginning of this year with the new format of the yearbook, I thought, 'Oh my goodness, how will we ever get this to pull through?'" But with the help of the other three editors who dedicated their time to this book, I believe that this will be one of the best yearbooks that has been produced here at P.C.H.S. Things would seem as if they were falling apart, and Mrs. Rhea would help us get back on track. The indexing was left for me to deal with, and I found it to be a menace; but when I got it started, it all seemed to fall into place and it was finished sooner than I had thought that it would be. "Kojo" kept the room happy with his comments and the knowledge that he shed on all of us. He was a lot of fun to work with. Thanks a bunch to the rest of the staff because if it hadn't been for you, it is hard to tell where we would have been with the book. This year was great, and I will remember Yearbook as one of the best classes that I took in my high school career."

— Trisha Warwick

"This year was the most fun among the three years I've spent as part of the yearbook staff. We have made a lot of changes to the layout of the overall book, and it is one of a kind. We have added many things, causing more hard work, but in the end we all pulled together to finish a wonderful yearbook."

—Kelley Smith

"I feel this year went by rather smoothly. With an addition of staff compared to last year, each member was able to work creatively on their layouts. I think the yearbook we produced will be one of the most unique books that has ever been made at P.C.H.S. It did, however, take a lot more hard work and dedication than a lot of the staff realized."

—Jessica Gilardi

"Yearbook this year has been very...unpredictable. We have had our share of difficulties (try typing upside down!) but I'm glad everything worked out. Good luck reading this year's yearbook, and enjoy!"

— Erin Coleman
